HONGKONG, FEBRUARY 2nd. 1898.

constitutional crisis has arisen in Japan. The occasion is the Budget. By one of the articles of the constitution certain items of expenditure are exempted from the Diet's independent control, while with the remainder it is free to deal as it likes. The reserved expenditures are, first, those incurred in the exercise of the Emperor's constitutional powers; secondly, expenditures as we learn from the Japan Mail.

control of the Diet amounts only to $20,000,000. The House of Representatives. however, is not content with exercising a control over the items included in the lesser sum, but has been applying the cutting down process to those included in the larger, with which it is constitutionally incompetent to deal, and as to which its functions are of purely advisory character. It is competent to discuss the several items, and to make recommendations thereon, but if the Government decline to accopt the recommendations, then nothing remains for the Diet, according to a strict reading of the constitution, bound by the strict reading of the constitution: It has made certain recommendations. which the Government has declined to ac-Case. Per Bot. proceeding to pass the votes in the form to consider the matter once again, and declared that the Ministers of the Crown should have five days to deliberate, three courses being in effect offered for their choice; first, to consent to the House's amendments; secondly, to resign; and thirdly, to dissolve the House and appeal to the country. When the House reassembled after the five :

days' interval the answer of the Government was a prorogation for fifteen days. What will happen when the House again meets re-cains to baseen.

The Japan Mail takes a very severe view of the course of action adopted by the Representatives. Being constitutionally forbidden either to reduce or reject the items in question, and being also constitutionally compelled to vote about them -- since " the expenditure and revenue of the State require the consent of the Diet by means of an annual Budget"—there remains, says our contemporary, no conceivable alternative for the House except to pass them in the form originally proposed by the Government The refusal to do so is characterised by the talins from Taipeb, one of which has been sent Mail as "a direct rebollion against the con-850 stitution," a "distinct and menacing revolt against the constitution," and so on. In our contemporary's opinion there has 20.00 | never in the history of representative Governments been so conspicuous an example of an assembly of law-givers deliberately trampling upon one of the fundamental regiment. It may be pointed out in reference ing well. Free Trade, a sub, and Pepper and laws of the State. But there are plenty of and if anything of that kind is to be done it | also that the expense of transporting 800-men is better that it should be brought about by a peaceful parliamentary crisis than by the Commandant. If the mountain cannot the letting of blood on the field of battle. The constitution itself declares that.

it must never be altered except by Imperial regiment every morning except Friday, providinitiative. How is this Imperial initiative to be induced if not by adverse votes in the representative assembly? The question 1.75 now agitating Jupanese politics is whether here but it would seem that Thefoo has little the financial control is to vest in the Crown lor in Parliament, and of the nature of the ultimate solution of the question there can be little doubt. It may be that representative institutions have been adopted too ready for them; and the cutting down of the vote for oil for the lighthouses cerof the capacity of the economical reformers. having been adopted, the natural consequences must inevitably follow, and sooner have to pass into the hands of the representatives of the people.

The Mail very tersely states the position as follows:—"The Opposition in the House of Representatives is animated by one unvary. ng purpose namely, to force the Government into a position of governl responsibility to wards the Diet; to compel the Cabinet to acknowledge that the Administration can be conducted only by statesmen commanding in capturing a goodly number, having allured a majority of votes in the House of Representatives." Whether that is a good purpose or a bad purpose, from a Japanese point of view, our contemporary declines to discuss, being concerned solely with the question whether the manner in which the purpose is pursued involves a technical breach of the constitution. Be the purpose gool or bad, however, it seems likely in the long run to be attained and if the constitution stands in the way the constitution will have to be altered. It is not quite clear, however, that the crisis is of quite such gravity as our contemporary represents. On a previous occasion a similar crisis, was met by a compromiss. To mpeat the process, we are told would amount to admitting the principle of compromise, a principle which involves corresponding trespass upon the financial prerogatives of the Crown. But it its summary of the constitution published in 1889 our contemporary, describing the clauses dealing with finance, said:—"Thus, while all fluuncial matters are subjected to parliamentary scruting GEORGE DOWLER, of Hougkong, to MAUD MARION, trol sufficiently to render the Government temporarily independent of a hostile Diet. It would seem, therefore, that the possibility of the Diet proving hostile was contemplated at the time the constitution was framed, and that the present Diet should in fact have proved so hardly lave it open to the charges levelled against it of rebellion to On the 29th January, at the Wilderness, Osang Road, George Edward Gray, third son of Hubert Marshall Murray Gray, of Dumblane, N.B., aged 28 gislative Council in a British Crown Colony, welled to vote ugainst their conscience, just savours not a little of absurdity. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office. Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of latey ears been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in solonce generally, which the rapid advance JEDDAH, SUAKIM, MASSAWAH, of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are HODEDDA, ADEN, BOMBAY, CO. here given in extenso. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration: Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst ional Cargo will go on to Shanghai unless this work contains more than 50,000 English to the contrary be given before 4 P.M., words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in Chins, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which
